

This is a simple nine patch, except you are only piecing the three top blocks. The Top outside blocks are $\frac{1}{2}$ triangle blocks, while the center block is three triangles. Then you have the box area that is three sections with two outside colors that are the same and the center is the color of the ribbon you want on the box.

NOTE: The outside two triangles are pieced with the bottom triangle being the ribbon color and the top triangle being the table runner fabric. The center block has the ribbon color in the center and the two top triangles are the table runner color.
